It had been a tiring day and I was looking forward to a quiet evening. My husband would not be back until late and I had decided to settle down in a comfortable armchair in the living-room and read a book. I put the children to bed early and prepared a cold supper and some coffee. Soon I was sitting comfortably with a tray full of food before me and a book at my side.

I was just beginning to eat when the telephone rang. I dropped my knife and fork and hurried to answer it. By the time I got back to the living-room, my coffee was already cold. After I finished my supper, I began drinking cold coffee with my book open at page one. Suddenly there was a loud knock at the door. It gave me such a surprise that I spilt the coffee and made an ugly stain on my skirt. Some stranger had lost his way and wanted me to direct him. It took me ages to get rid of him. At length I managed to sit down again and actually read a whole page without further interruption - until the baby woke up. He began crying loudly and I rushed upstairs. The baby was still awake at 11 o' clock when my husband came home. I could have screamed when he asked me if I had spent a pleasant evening.
