Social Problems and Solutions

Let's Help

Dear friend Buddhiman,

Date: 2065/10/3

Many people live in our society. Of these people, most are surrounded by problems. This year Kajari's house caught fire. All the locals collectively put out the fire. I also lent a hand for it. My help included the supply of water in buckets. Many things burnt to ashes. All the locals gave him foods, clothes and pots. I also helped Kajari with clothes, books and pen. We should help our friends in trouble, shouldn't we? Last year flood panicked the whole village. At that time, we were all scared. An institution called Red Cross helped us with rice, lentils, pots, clothes and tent. Neighbouring villages and towns also helped us.

Maybe you heard the news from the radio. This year there was flood in Bhojpur district where ten houses were wiped by the landslide. 24 people received injuries. They are taken to hospital. Several institutions arrived with help and relief packages. Should there be a disaster there comes a rain of help.

We raised fund to help the landslide victims at our school. I contributed five rupees from my savings. Our father said, "It is good to help those in trouble." If we help others in need, they will also help us too." Who knows when we need help ourselves?"

Ok! This should be enough for today. Also, please remember to share your experience of helping others in critical need. More in next letter.

Sincerely Yours,
Sunali Sunar
