Class: Three

Subject- English

1) Read the story and color all common nouns in red and proper noun in green.

Hello! I am Abhik Bhandari. It is late February in Patan and I am inside the Central Zoo here. The weather is still a little bit cold. I would love to be in bed with hot milk and a few comics, but I have a job to do. I have to count the animals here.

The naughty monkeys are running all around. The fish are swimming all around. What shall I do? How shall I count them?

Mr Leo Brown, my biology teacher from seventh grade, had taught me an easy way to count fish. I can take a photograph and then count them in the photo. So here, fish. Smile please. Click. Great!

Now the lions. I like Harry and Aarti, the lion couple. They are easy to count!

I also like Wiggly the otter. He lives alone these days. He greets me when he sees me. So he is easy to count.

The two camels, Longlegs and Bighump, are also very nice. They just stand there, munching the juicy grass.

Hey! Here are the deer to count. Oh, they are so many! And tell me, please tell me, why do they all look the same and why do they run around? One, two, three, four ... Oh no! Again. One, two, three, four ...
